2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Referring to claims 1, 14, 27, 40, and 41, the prior art of record does not teach or fairly suggest a client/system for recording a video session or a method for recording a video session at a client, comprising:

- generating a video sub-frame comprising a second video data that is different from a first video data, wherein generating the video sub-frame comprises:

 - sequentially comparing each row of video pixels is initiated from the first row of video pixels and performed until identifying a row of video pixels where the second video data is different from the first video data, the identified row defining a first boundary of the video sub-frame; and
 - sequentially comparing each row of video pixels is also initiated from the last row of video pixels and performed until identifying a row of video pixels where the second video data is different from the first video data, the identified row defining a second boundary of the video sub-frame; and

- sequentially comparing each column of video pixels associated with the second video data with a corresponding column of video pixels associated with the first video data until identifying a column of video pixels where the second video data is different from the first video data, wherein:
 - sequentially comparing each column of video pixels is initiated from the first column of video pixels and performed until identifying a column of video pixels where the second video data is different from the first video data, the identified column defining a third boundary of the video sub-frame; and
 - sequentially comparing each column of video pixels is also initiated from the last column of video pixels and performed until identifying a column of video pixels where the second video data is different from the first video data, the identified column defining a fourth boundary of the video sub-frame
